- If material is not relevant to Baldwin County, the collection may be weeded, disposed of, and/or separated into different collections, i.e. photographs, manuscripts, artifacts, and books may be housed separately within the building.
- If in the future it is determined that material does not fit the BCDAH collecting guidelines or if BCDAH chooses to deaccession the material, the BCDAH will follow guidelines according to Act 92-719. If the material is offered to another institution, my approval will be obtained in advance.
- Access to non-artifact material will be via department finding aids which allow researchers to locate the material within the BCDAH collections online.
- In order to make the donated material more quickly available to researchers only minimal processing may be completed, i.e. the collection may be housed in an acid free box but it may not be fully processed to tem or folder level.

I have read the above bulleted items and I, the donor, understand and concur with the actions.
